TRIBE OF SHOSHONEES, AS WELL AS A HISTORY OF THE GREAT SHOSHONEES REMEDY, WARRANTED TO MAKE A PERMANENT CURE OF ALL DISEASES OF THE THROAT, LUNGS, LIVER, KIDNEYS, DIGESTIVE ORGANS, &c.

SCROFULA, THE VARIOUS SKIN DISEASES, HUMORS, AND ALL DISEASES ARISING FROM IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD, EXCEPTING THE THIRD STAGE OF CONSUMPTION.

THE SHOSHONEES

VEGETABLE RESTORATIVE PILLS

OF THE

CELEBRATED INDIAN DR. LEWIS JOSEPHUS.

WARRANTED TO CONTAIN NOTHING BUT VEGETABLE.

THESE Pills are prepared strictly in accordance with the Original Recipe and Instructions of the celebrated Indian Dr. LEWIS JOSEPHUS, author of the Great Shoshonees Remedy; and as a gentle laxative is required during the use of the Remedy, they are designed to go with it, and assist in action. There is not a single ingredient in them but the very active principles, doubly refined and purified of vegetable preparations that are perfectly compatible with every ingredient entering into the composition of the Great Shoshonees Remedy. As these Pills are the only laxative compounded with a view of meeting in harmony, the exigencies of the Great Shoshonees Remedy, we would strongly advise the afflicted taking the Remedy, by all means to use the Shoshonees Vegetable Restorative Pills. Any other Pill but the Shoshonees Pills are likely to interfere with, if not to destroy the good effects of the Remedy, but more particularly those which of necessity are put up in glass or crystal vials to protect them from the decomposing influence of the atmosphere are certain to destroy the curative properties of the Great Shoshonees Remedy. No Pill but that which will retain its properties for years in wooden boxes, should be imposed upon the public. For directions in using the Shoshonees Pills with the Remedy, see general directions in the Treatise. These Pills are composed of the active principles of the choicest Vegetable Extracts, Balsams, &c. They are very mild, yet most certain in their effects, operating in from eight to twelve hours, without nausea, pain or griping, and will strengthen rather than debilitate the system. In the first attack of a violent cold a large dose of these Pills, followed after their operation, with the sweating process, as given in the Treatise, will break up the cold at once, and by continuing the Great Shoshonees Remedy for a few days, according to general directions, you will eradicate the dregs of the cold from the system, and thereby obviate the danger of Chronic disease hereafter. On account of their extreme mildness, yet great certainty of action on the bowels, in all cases of Infant, Adult and Old Aged People, as well as their soothing and healing influence on the stomach, bowels, liver, kidneys, &c., it is the BEST PILL AS A FAMILY MEDICINE now in use, and as such, give from one to five Pills, according to age and circumstances, for Billiousness, Sluggishness of the Liver, or in cases of taking cold, headache, dizziness, rush of blood to the head, pain in the head, &c., &c., or when there is a feeling of langor, stupidity or heaviness, &c., in consequence of their not being sufficient action of the bowels.

DOSES AS A FAMILY MEDICINE WHEN THE REMEDY IS NOT USED.

For an Adult	from	3 to 5 Pills.
For a child 10 years old	"	2 to 3 "
For " 5 " "	"	1 to 2 "

GREAT SHOSHONEES REMEDY

OF THE CELEBRATED

INDIAN DR. LEWIS JOSEPHUS,

OF THE DISTINGUISHED

TRIBE OF SHOSHONEES IN THE VICINITY OF MANGCOSEE, BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Warranted to make a permanent Cure of all Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Digestive Organs, &c. (as well as Scrofula, the various Skin Diseases, Humors, and all diseases arising from impurity of the Blood), excepting the third stage of Consumption.

Dr. H. B. Jasper, formerly of St. Louis, and late of Columbia, has at last achieved his long, untiring, and perseveringly sought-for design—the thorough and practical knowledge of the profound secret of compounding and preparing the Great Shoshonees Remedy (a preparation unparalleled in the wide world, especially for diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Digestive Organs, &c.), from the Eminent Indian, Dr. Lewis Josephus, of the Great Tribe of Shoshonees, in British Columbia. This wonderful and worthily celebrated medicine, is prepared in a very peculiar and highly ingenious manner, from the active principles of a great variety of Plants, Roots, Herbs, Gums, &c., just as they are selected from Nature's Garden—fresh, and containing their full virtues, and in such a manner as to retain all their medicinal properties in the Compound. Some of the less important plants, roots, &c., with their active principles, are known to us; such as the Cherrocine, which is the active principle of the Wild Forest-Cherry, and some others. But the most important ingredients entering into the composition of this peculiar Remedy, are still kept, by Dr. Jasper & Co., and their Commissioners, as sealed secrets; with the pledge, however, of their being revealed to the medical profession at some future period. Dr. Jasper's wonderful success, in obtaining a knowledge, from Dr. Lewis Josephus, of the life-long secret of compounding and preparing this, the Great Shoshonees Remedy, is, without a single exception, the greatest boon on the records of medical history, ever conferred upon suffering humanity: for in it is offered to the world, not a medicine like many of the Quack nostrums of the day, that are recommended to cure everything, but a Great Remedy, which is warranted, and may be relied upon, to make a permanent cure of all diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, and Digestive Organs, as well as Scrofula or King's Evil, the various Humors and Skin Diseases, and all Diseases arising from impurity of the Blood, excepting the Third Stage of Consumption, on which it has no permanent effect.

REVELATION OF THE GREAT SHOSHONEES REMEDY.

The scope of this treatise will not admit of an elaborate history of Dr. Jasper's methodical plans, schemes, and designs, which he had recourse to, in order to succeed, in his deeply premeditated project of obtaining, from Dr. Lewis Josephus, the long profound secret of compounding and preparing the Great Shoshonees Remedy: but for the gratification of the million, a portion of such history, with some collateral points, will be given.

Dr. Jasper, in the year 1857, commenced the practice of medicine in the City of St. Louis, Mo. where he gained a respectable practice, which he retained until the time he embarked for Columbia, this being for about four years. In the year 1860, young Dr. Butler, who had been a student of Dr. Jasper's the previous year, resolved to seek his fortune in the gold regions of Columbia; and accordingly went with five others, to that country; and, shortly after his arrival, he commenced the practice of his profession, in the flourishing little town of Mangcosee. The following is an abstract of his first letter to Dr. Jasper, written about four weeks after his arrival in the said town of Mangcosee, Columbia.

Mangcosee, Augt. 15th, 1860.

Dear Governor,—We all arrived here safely excepting poor Stewart, who was very poorly for the last fortnight of the voyage, with typhus fever. On our arrival here we procured for him lodgings with a private family, for the trifling sum of seventeen dollars per week, and then for nearly a week we watched him, day and night, expecting every hour to be his last. The second day we were there, the family advised us, very strongly, to send for an old Indian Doctor, called Lewis Josephus, assuring us that he was a man of wonderful skill. I scoffed at the idea, and so did Miller; but hearing so much of his reputation from the family, Lynn, Fisher, and Mitchell, were anxious to have him employed. At this I felt very indignant, and said, Gentlemen, if you prefer having poor Stewart's life in the hands of an old Indian, to having him under the care of Dr. Massy, (a physician we had employed), and myself, you may go for him, for I will not. They started immediately, returning the next day with the old colored gentleman; who at once took Stewart in charge, and never left him for two days and two nights—every half hour giving him a table-spoonful of a dark colored medicine, and a table-spoonful of wild duck soup. He also rubbed the body over every six hours with a piece of fur, dipped in warm vinegar and water; and done many other things to attract attention. However, when he was with Stewart for about forty-eight hours, it happened that the fever took a change, and he began, and continued rapidly to recover, and is now out of danger, which I am sure to hear will rejoice his poor old widowed mother's heart. Of course the inhabitants, as well as Lynn, Fisher, and Mitchell, gave the old Indian the credit; but what surprised me was, that Miller, my own cousin, was completely changed, and done like-wise. The old Indian left medicine to last a fortnight; and Fisher and Miller left him home again, and gave him twenty-five dollars and a silver watch. The old axiom is, that fortune favors the brave; but in this case it favored the old Indian, &c.

I am, ever your humble friend,

H. B. JASPER, St. Louis, Mo. DONALD W. BUTLER.

It is evident from this letter that, at this time, Dr. Butler had no confidence in the Eminent Indian, Dr. Lewis Josephus; but, by reading further you will observe that he, like young Miller, was afterwards completely converted, and gave Dr. Josephus the credit of saving Stewart's life. The following is an abstract of a letter from young Stewart to his mother:—

Mangcosee, 21st Aug., 1860.

Mrs. Ann Stewart, St. Louis, Mo.—My Dear Mother, It affords me very great pleasure to be able to inform you of the happy, but, at one time, unexpected, termination of my voyage to Columbia, &c. I had on the way a most severe attack of typhus fever, which lasted and increased greatly in severity for a short time after our arrival here, &c. Dr. Butler was very attentive to me himself, and also called in a consultation; but, in spite of their skill, had it not been for that of a venerable old Indian gentleman, Dr. Lewis Josephus, an Eminent Physician of the Great Tribe of Shoshonees, I should have as surely been in my grave, as I am now writing this letter. When Dr. Josephus took his departure from me he left medicine to last a couple of weeks; but stated that my lungs had suffered considerable, and cautioned me, if any trace of the cough, shortness of breath, or pain in the chest, that I then suffered from, remained when the medicine was done, to take his compound preparation, which was for sale in the drug store! This preparation is known here as the Great Shoshonees Remedy, and in all diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, and Digestive Organs, as well as Scrofula, Skin Diseases, &c., for which it is more especially prepared by Dr. Josephus, it is valued I may say as gold dust. When I had done the medicine he left me, I still suffered a good deal from the cough, shortness of breath, and pain in the chest; and I also began to expectorate some blood. I at once commenced the Great Shoshonees Remedy, which I have taken regularly since, until a couple of days ago; and now, with the exception of a little weakness, I am thankful to know, and also happy to be able to inform you, that I never felt better in my life.

I remain, your very affectionate son, JOHN STEWART.

The following is the abstract of another letter, written by Dr. Butler, of Mangcosee, Columbia, to Dr. Jasper, of St. Louis, Mo:—

Mangcosee, Nov. 23rd. 1860.

Dear Governor.—It is with no small interest that I write to you, &c. My health has been extremely good since I last wrote, and my practice is not bad; yet it is not what I should wish. But the truth is, I have not attended properly to it. Not that I have been led away by any vice; but I have been endeavouring, and have exerted my utmost faculty, ability and reason, to procure, by some means, a knowledge of the secret process of manufacturing a medicine called the Great Shoshonees Remedy; but, like many others who have tried before me, I have utterly failed. I think I should have succeeded, had I not had the misfortune, when I first met the porprietor of the Remedy, to treat him scornfully. This proprietor is none other than the Indian, Dr. Lewis Josephus, who was employed to treat, and whom I am now thoroughly convinced, saved the life of young Stewart. Do not think strange of me writing thus of an Indian Doctor; for, from what I have learned from reliable sources, as well as from what I have seen of his treatment in difficult cases, my mind is completely altered, and I am now firmly convinced that he is a very clever man, and one of the most skilful medical practitioners that the world ever knew; and as for his medicine, the Great Shoshonees Remedy, which he prepares for general sale, or rather which his two sons manufacture, under his superintendence, and is especially recommended for all diseases of the Internal Organs (as the Throat, Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, and Digestive Organs), as well as Scrofula, Humors, &c., it cannot be equalled in the known world. It is in fact an infallible cure for all those diseases, excepting the third stage of Consumption. In this country a man might as well say that black was white, as to say any thing against this Remedy. It is considered to be propræ et puppis (all in all) in those diseases, and so it is. It is impossible to find a family here without a supply of it in the house. Mr. Jones the druggist, told me one evening last week, that he had sold during the past year, over five hundred pints, and that there was nearly one quarter of the time that he had none on hand, nor could he get it. If the secret process for manufacturing this Great Remedy could by any means be procured, it would be worth something handsome; for it would sell rapidly in all countries—not perhaps the first few months it was for sale—but once its peculiar virtues were tested there would be no end to the sale of it. And I feel confident, that if you and Mrs. Jasper were to come to Mangcosee, bringing with you some gay jewelry and articles of dress for Dr. Josephus and his squaw—a portion of which to be presented occasionally by you to the Doctor, and a portion occasionally by Mrs. Jasper to his squaw—at the same time pretending to be at bitter enmity with me, and inviting them frequently to spend a day or two with you, bringing them and leaving them home again in your carriage, and many other plans that you could devise better than I—cautiously remembering that you yourself would not dare to make the squaw a present, or else all the fat would be in the fire at once. I say I feel confident that, if you were here to adopt that course, you would be the happy man to whom the secret of the Great Shoshonees Remedy would be revealed. If you should see fit, &c. Please let me know, &c.

I am ever your humble friend,

H. B. Jasper, M.D., St. Louis, Mo. DONALD W. BUTLER.

It is not necessary, and it would be tiresome on the part of the reader, to insert here all the letters that passed from this time forward between Dr. Butler of Columbia, and Dr. Jasper of St. Louis. But suffice it to say, that Dr. Butler wrote to Dr. Jasper very frequently, always speaking in the highest terms of the Indian Dr. Josephus, extolling the Great Shoshonees Remedy, and encouraging him to come to Columbia, for the purpose above stated; which letters were promptly answered by Dr. Jasper who was quite taken up with the speculation; and in the following spring of 1861, proceeded with his wife, to Mangcosee, Columbia, bringing with him a great variety of ornaments, fancy articles of dress, &c., to be appropriated as presents to Dr. Josephus and his squaw; for he resolved, without sparing any reasonable expense, to obtain, if possible, a knowledge of the secret manufacture of this, the Great Shoshonees Remedy. Dr. Jasper arrived in Mangcosee, Columbia, on the 29th day of July, 1861, where he took a residence on Salmon street, directly opposite the Burton House; and, as was previously understood, he, and Dr. Butler were not acquainted; but they managed to spend the nights together, secretly, whenever occasion required it. About a week after this Dr. Butler was called to see a child suffering, from what he gave the mother to understand was, irritation of the brain; yet he knew better, and treated the child properly. A couple of days afterwards Dr. Butler expressed a wish to have Dr. Jasper called in, stating that he had understood he was a very clever physician, Dr. Jasper was accordingly employed; but when he came, asserted that Dr. Butler had mistaken the disease, for that it was infantile remittant fever. Then arose an apparent animosity between the two Doctors, Dr. Jasper thence requested the following day, that the Indian Physician, Dr. Lewis Josephus, should be called. His wishes were complied with, and the Indian-Doctor, who afterwards fully coincided with Dr. Jasper, arrived that night; when he (Dr. Jasper) received him with great courtesy, treated him very kindly, invited him to spend the night with him, and left him home the next morning with his horse and carriage—a distance of about fifteen miles. This kindness the noble Indian heart highly appreciated; and, from this time forth, Dr. Josephus held Dr. Jasper in great esteem, and the more so because he thought that Dr. Jasper and Dr. Butler (which latter he himself despised), were at variance. This was the first, and indeed, a grand step toward the discovery of the Great Shoshonees Remedy. When Dr. Jasper was about to return home, the Indian Doctor asked him if he was fond of hunting. The Doctor replied, Yes, very; well, the former answered, if you will come down next Wednesday, we will go wild-goose shooting. The doctor replied, I will come; and as Mrs. Jasper is very fond of driving, I shall bring her with me. Dr. Josephus said, Do, do. They had a hearty shake of hands, and Dr. Jasper returned home in good spirits, congratulating himself upon his success. On the following Wednesday, according to agreement, he and his wife returned, where they remained until the following morning. Then Mrs. Jasper presented the children each with a string of beads. And coming to Mangcosee, they brought the Indian Doctor and his squaw with them, where they remained for a couple of days on a visit. During this time no pains were spared by the doctor and Mrs. Jasper to amuse their visitors. After which they left them home again, and presented them with nice large gold rings; and Mrs. Jasper having made a beautiful smoking-cap, handsomely decorated with beads, presented it also to the Indian Doctor, which he prized above almost any other earthly material. To give a graphic history of all the peculiar circumstances that took place between these two families, would require volumes to contain them. It is therefore impossible, nor is it necessary; but suffice it to say that this kind of speculation was continued by Dr. Jasper for more than two years, during the first six months of which time he (Dr. Jasper), in his own peculiar style, frequently intimated to the Indian Doctor, that he would like to be in possession of the secret of preparing the Great Shoshonees Remedy; but perceiving that circumstances were not yet favorable, he postponed a decided request until the first six months had elapsed. He then requested, as a great favor, which should never be forgotten, to be intrusted with this secret. When he made this request the poor old Indian Doctor burst into tears, and said, My dear Dr. Jasper, I will do anything else under the sun for you; but to reveal this secret is forbidden by solemn vows. Dr. Jasper then saw that it was necessary to arouse his feelings of gratitude to a greater pitch than he had ever yet done, before he could obtain the secret: and, without feeling at all discouraged, resolved in his own mind to plan some scheme for the purpose; which he did, time and again, until two long years had passed away without having accomplished the end in view. But during the third year he lit upon a grand scheme, which proved successful; and it was the following:—He (Dr. Jasper) managed to get the eldest son of the Indian Doctor, with his mother, up to Mangcosee, on a visit; and as they sat in the parlor one evening, with the Doctor and Mrs. Jasper, a tremendous rap came to the door, that startled young Josephus and his mother, and apparently the Doctor and Mrs. Jasper. Yet the two latter were not at all alarmed, knowing the rap to be in connection with the scheme, which was all pre-arranged. The Doctor hastened to open the door, upon which a messenger exclaimed, Mrs. Jasper's dear friend, Miss Williams, is not expected to live till morning, and wishes to see her at once; your brother and I are here with a carriage to bring her. Mrs. Jasper said O! what will Mrs. Josephus and her son do? we must go and see poor Miss Williams. Young Josephus answered, Mrs. Jasper, as you and the Doctor are obliged to go, I will get a conveyance and leave my mother home. The Doctor replied, no, Mrs. Jasper can go in this carriage, and I will get my brother to remain, and we will leave you and your mother home and go to Mr. Williams after we return. This arrangement was agreed upon. Mrs. Jasper started and the Doctor and his supposed brother (yet he was not his brother) prepared and started with young Josephus and his mother. When they got about five miles out of town, in a very lonely spot they found the road blocked up, which had been done by Dr. Butler and four other men, in disguise, who were then secreted by the side of the road; and the instant Dr. Jasper stopped his horses, two of the men sprang and seized them by the heads, and the other three rushed up to the side of the carriage. Of course Dr. Jasper understood all this – it was premeditated, and there was no serious violence to be committed. Dr. Jasper said to the men in disguise, Gentlemen what do you want? They answered We want that infernal Indian and Squaw. The Doctor replied there are no such persons here. This is my wife, my brother, and a friend. They answered, Dr. Jasper, we know you; and we know that this is an Indian and Squaw behind, and at the peril of your life we demand them of you. Dr. Jasper said, what do you want of them? They answered we want their lives; they shall never live another hour. Dr. Jasper replied with a stern and powerful voice, You blood-thirsty ruffians you will have to spill my very hearts blood before you tear these harmless creatures from me. At this the two men that were at the horses heads came to the assistance of the other three, and there was a general struggle between the two parties; but finally the seemingly ruffians succeeded in getting young Josephus and his mother away dragging them into the bush, where they lit a dark lantern, and showed them some large knives, with which they said they were going to skin them alive as the Indians done to the white men. Young Josephus and his mother were now in desperate anguish, and wept most bitterly. (Dr. Jasper states it was torture to his soul to witness the scene.) Just at this time Dr. Jasper fired a shot from his revolver, which was at once returned by the opposite party, and repeated several times on both sides. At last one of the men who held young Josephus fell, and cried, I am shot, I am shot! Then the other four picked him up, and carried him hastily away into the bush, leaving young Josephus and his mother alone: who then called Dr. Jasper, ran towards him, and got into the carriage, Dr. Jasper then called to his supposed brother, but got no answer; and, in looking for him, found him lying in the edge of the bush, feigning to be shot! Upon which he (Dr. Jasper,) cried out, O, my brother is shot! my brother is shot! Young Josephus then ran to his assistance, and they carried and placed him in the carriage. The road then being blocked, they turned round and drove furiously into Mangcosee again. The first thing they done then, was to get young Josephus and his mother into Dr. Jasper's parlor, after which they drove into the carriage house. Then with all haste Dr. Jasper's supposed brother, whom young Josephus and his mother thought had been killed in trying to save their lives, jumped up, changed his clothes, and left the premises. Dr. Jasper and his assistants then, as speedily as possible, with the clothes which his supposed brother had taken off, dressed a corpse which they had secreted in the carriage house for the occasion. When completed they carried the corpse into the house, which when they saw it of course tended to confirm young Josephus and his mother in the belief that Dr. Jasper had lost his brother by endeavoring to save their lives. To make a long story short, the next morning Dr. Jasper left young Josephus and his mother home, on the way frequently exclaiming, O, my poor brother! My poor brother! When they drove up to the door, Dr. Josephus came out smiling, gave his hand to the Doctor and said, How are you this morning, Dr. Jasper? Upon which Dr. Jasper grasped his hand firmly, apparently burst into tears, and cried most bitterly, O, my poor brother! my poor dear brother! He then got from the carriage, and walked up the road apparently in great anguish, leaving young Josephus and his mother to relate the sad story to the Indian Doctor, which took them about twenty minutes. After which the whole three came up to Dr. Jasper, fell on their faces in the dust before him, and wept very bitterly for about five minutes. Dr. Jasper states that he could not refrain from tears, to witness the extreme gratitude and tender sympathy of those poor creatures. Then the Indian Doctor arose and said, My dear, dear Dr. Jasper, what can I do to recompense you for your sincere love for my family and myself? You have lost your dear brother in saving the life of my good squaw and son. Ask what you will and I swear by the Great Spirit, if it is in my power I will give it you. Dr. Jasper replied, I have nothing to ask, unless you can place sufficient confidence in me to intrust me with the secret of the Great Shoshonees Remedy. The Indian Doctor answered, Though I should break ten thousand solemn vows, Dr. Jasper, you shall have it, you shall have it. Then they went into Dr. Josephus' medicine room, and the Indian Doctor showed Dr. Jasper all the medicines that entered into the Great Shoshonees Remedy—gave him the proportion of each to a given quantity of the Remedy, and showed him the peculiar method of manufacturing it, &c.—all of which Dr. Jasper carefully noted down for the time being, with pencil and paper. After which he (Dr. Jasper) drove back to Mangcosee, simulating that he intended to send the remains of his brother to St. Louis. In two days after this, having, as he pretended, accomplished this heart-rending task, he returned to the Indian Doctor's cottage, where he remained for a fortnight, during which time Doctor Josephus took great pleasure in instructing him in all the particulars of the Great Shoshonees Remedy, including both Pills and Compound, manufacturing it in his presence, and sparing no pains to make every point in connection with the manufacture, clear and distinct to him. The Indian Doctor also gave him full particulars in respect to the diseases in which this Great Remedy was more especially to be used—the exact symptoms by which he knew any particular one of these diseases to be present. Also his collateral treatment, in connection with the Great Shoshonees Remedy, for those diseases, &c. And now all this valuable information—this inestimable instruction—this knowledge, transcending all price to the sick and suffering—with the exception of the secret preparation of the Remedy, is inserted in this treatise; hence we have no hesitation in saying, that whoever is fortunate enough to secure one of these pamphlets, has secured a prize, which is in value to the sick and suffering, only second among all the books in the world. And to those who may be put in possession of more than one, we would say, if you have a friend, send them one.

EPITOME OF THE HISTORY OF THE GREAT TRIBE OF SHOSHONEES.

The more intelligent members of this great race of aborigines are firm in the belief that they are the descendants of one of the lost tribes of the children of Israel, which is doubtless correct, and is corroborated by facts hereinafter mentioned. At the time that Columbus discovered America, landing on the 12th of October, 1492, at Guanahani, San Salvador, or Cat Island, the innumerable Tribe of Shoshonees had for their principal station the region of Texas; but, by the interruption of the whites, they have since been scattered over various territories. And now this great race, who number vastly more than any other aboriginal tribe of either North or South America, are found under various names and presenting a great variety of habits and appearance, spread over the unbounded wilderness from Texas to Columbia. The most ancient body and most intelligent portion of them, known as the great tribe of Shoshonees, being situated in the latter country—Columbia. At the time of the discovery of the New World, this great tribe were found to be noble warriors. Their civil chief was not intrusted with the authority of commanding their armies, unless he was known to be a bold and skillful warrior; but one of their most brave and unflinching officers was chosen a war chief, in whom was vested absolute dictatorship. They were remarkably skillful in their management on the battle-field. Lances, swords, bows, slings, pikes and clubs, were their national weapons, in the use of which they were skillfully and wonderfully trained. In battle they formed into lines, and as the first fell it was supplied from the second, and if necessary from the third, until finally they succeeded in breaking the ranks of the enemy. And even in the midst of their fury they invariably obeyed the commands of their officers. With regard to their religious persuasion, the Shoshonees were firm in the belief of a Supreme Being, which they denominated the Great Spirit; As well as a great demon named Guecubu; also of a future state of happiness and punishment, and the immortality of the soul. Their superstitions, signs, and omens, almost perfectly resembled those of ancient nations. The tradition of a deluge, so universally believed by the world, was current among them; and, in many other respects, analogies were traceable between their belief and that of the old world. The ceremonies for the interment of the dead closely resembled those of the ancients; and an undeniable fact, which is more striking than all the rest, is that they had in their midst lodges of the ancient masonic order, the members of which are said to have been in full possession of the ancient and genuine secrets and mysteries of the fraternity. They had medical professors who made no pretentions to supernatural powers, and who are said to have possessed wonderful skill in the diagnosis of diseases, and in the administration of remedies. They possessed a wonderful pride in their own country, and a supreme contempt for all other nations. They were, in fact, one vast brotherhood, bound together by most friendly ties, and the benevolence and kindness with which they treated each other might shame some of the most enlightened nations. This benevolence and kindness is not however confined to members of their own tribe, but extends to all strangers. Travellers are entertained and treated very kindly by them for any length of time without expense, so long as they behave prudently. In their houses and persons they vastly differ from many of the Aboriginal Tribes of America, by their observance of most remarkable cleanliness in all particulars, and on all occasions. And finally, they are in fact a fine, portly, tall, and clever looking race of people with large foreheads, and countenance expressive of good intellectual faculties—so much so, that many travellers have expressed an utter surprise to find such people inhabiting the wilds of America.

THE GREAT SHOSHONEES REMEDY, AND THE SHOSHONEES VEGETABLE RESTORATIVE PILLS IN CONNECTION WITH DR. LEWIS JOSEPHUS' SIGNS, SYMPTOMS, AND TREATMENT OF DISEASES OF THE THROAT, LUNGS, LIVER, KIDNEYS, DIGESTIVE ORGANS, ETC.

COUGHS AND COLDS.

IN CONNECTION WITH DISORDERED DIGESTIVE ORGANS AND LACTEAL VESSELS.

There is probably no truth so amazing and astonishing, to those who have not heretofore given it a thought as the stern and incontestable fact, that the vast majority of all diseases to which the human family is liable, are occasioned by two prominent causes, namely—First, from disordered Digestive Organs and Lacteal Vessels (hereinafter described), and Secondly, from first taking Cold—the latter more particularly when the functions of the Digestive Organs and Lacteal Vessels are already deranged. Thousands have been struck with wonder and surprise, on learning this indisputable truth, and yet how many—yes, alas, how very many!—will be utterly regardless of them and their consequences, until it is too late. Hence it is that colds and those disordered functions are so ravenous and destructive; and so will it be until man will learn to be wise, and make use of the means sent to his door for their removal. Why is it that the members of the Great Tribe of Shoshonees are not seriously afflicted with diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Digestive, Organs, &c. &c.? all of which arise from the causes and under the circumstances above mentioned. It is because they have a certain preventative and sure Remedy for their removal; and when any of them are approaching, which they know by the symptoms and signs laid down in this treatise, they commence the use of it at once, and continue it regularly so long as any trace of the disease remains, and the consequence is, it soon vanishes: and this is now our privilege also, of which we will certainly avail ourselves, if we remember that the result of Common Cough is often Obstinate Cough, and that of Obstinate Cough, Consumption, or some other serious malady, if not taken in time.

ACUTE CATARRH.

OR WHAT IS COMMONLY CALLED A COLD.

This is a febrile affection, complicated in the majority of cases with inflammation of one of the mucus membranes. If confined to the muscus membrane of the eyes and nostrils, it is called coryza, or cold in the head. If it extends to the bronchial tubes, it is termed Bronchitis; and if it attacks the Lungs, the Liver, the Kidneys, &c., we have inflammation of the organs affected; and if such inflammation let it be ever so slight, is neglected, or not properly treated, and the patient recovers, it very often through the influence of the disordered functions of the Lacteal vessels, lays the foundation of Chronic Disease. Hence it is that we have so many cases of what are known as Chronic Bronchitis, Consumption, Liver Complaint, Kidney Disease, &c., for which diseases we are now offered a sure and certain remedy, and a positive Cure, excepting in the third stage of Consumption.

Symptoms of Catarrh.—Slight shivering followed by feverishness, weight or pain in the head, sense of fullness, and stopping up of the nose, watery and inflamed eyes, cold, shivering, succeeded by transient flushes of heat, eruption on the lips, rheumatic pains in the back, neck, head and extremities, and increased secretion of mucus from the nose.

Treatment.—Upon taking cold, first adopt the Shoshonees Sweating Process (see page 13), and the next day take a physicking dose of the Shoshonees Restorative Pills. Then commence the Great Shoshonees Remedy, according to the general Directions. The next night, if the cold is not broken up, adopt the Sweating Process again, continuing the Remedy and Pills, according to Directions, (see page 15) until every vestige of the affection is removed; and by doing this you will not only avoid the danger of having the dregs of the affection left lurking in the system, but you will also ward off the danger of catching cold easily hereafter. If the catarrh is chronic, take equal parts of Gum Arabic, Blood Root, and Gum Myrrh, pulverize them very finely and take a pinch of this catarrh snuff three or four times a day, in connection with the Remedy and Pills.

INFLUENZA.

Symptoms.—A shuddering with a sense of cold, lassitude, weariness, severe pain in the head, back, and loins, followed by flushes of heat, feeling of weight in the head, oppression at the chest, redness and suffusion of the eyes, sneezing and tingling at the nose, with an acrid discharge from the nostrils, nausea, or vomiting, a furred tongue, the urine scanty and turbid, and the skin hot and dry.

Treatment.—This disease requires exactly the same treatment as that recommended for Acute Catarrh.

ACUTE BRONCHITIS.

Symptoms.—The general symptoms are those of Acute Catarrh in its most severe form; but we have other symptoms whereby we may distinguish Bronchitis from Catarrh, or, in other words, whereby we may know that the inflammation has extended from about the head down to the bronchial tubes, which are the air passages leading to the lungs; and these symptoms are oppression, a sense of constriction, and sometimes pain within the chest. The pain is increased by coughing, but not by a deep and slow inspiration, as it is in Pleurisy. There is a hoarseness, shortness of breath increased by exertion, and cough, attended by expectoration, that frequently resembles white of egg.

Treatment.—First take an emetic, such, for instance, as equal parts of Blood Root, and tincture of Lobelia, mix them. Dose for an adult, one tablespoonful; for a child, a tea-spoonful, every half hour until vomiting commences. Then when the stomach is settled, adopt the Shoshonees Sweating Process (see page 13) also apply a large mustard poultice to the chest, and after its removal, the Shoshonees Poultice. The next morning give a physicking dose of the Pills, and commence the Remedy, in doses of a teaspoonful three times a day, until the emetics are stopped; then according to general directions, add the Anodyne, if necessary (see page 13.) Repeat the emetics twice a day, and the Shoshonees Poultice every night, till the patient expectorates freely, and continue the Remedy and Pills, according to Directions (see page 15), until every vestige of the disease is eradicated from the system, and thus you will avoid the danger of the patient becoming affected with that dreadful disease, Chronic Bronchitis.

CHRONIC BRONCHITIS.

Symptoms.—This disease is the consequence of Acute Bronchitis, or else a Common Cold, when not properly treated. It is one of the most prevalent of all Lung diseases, and if neglected, one of the most dangerous. It returns every winter with increased severity, in which case it is called winter cough. When the expectoration is abundant, and the breathing difficult, it is called Humoral Asthma. The expectoration may be copious or sparing, and of all characters: it is frequently ropy. There is a troublesome cough, uneasy breathing, a sense of tightness across the chest, loss of appetite, irregular action of the bowels, cheek sometimes red, and scanty urine. The coughing usually comes on in fits, when first waking or rising from bed.

Treatment.—The treatment required in this disease is identically the same as that recommended for Consumption (see treatment of Consumption) excepting that in this disease you will gargle the throat every night and morning with ginger tea. If you will but carry out the principles of this treatment, the least I can say is you may rely on a cure.

CONSUMPTION OF THE LUNGS.

We have been advised by numerous friends, on account of the universal belief that Consumption cannot be cured, not to state in this treatise the wonderful effects of the Great Shoshonees Remedy in this particular disease: but to let it be discovered by communities themselves. Yet in the face of all this, we consider it our duty, and feel no hesitation in stating in broad and unequivocal language that this the Great Shoshonees Remedy and Pills, in connection with Dr. Josephus' collateral treatment, herein given, will permanently cure all cases of the first stage of Consumption, and the majority of those in the second stage; but in the same language we forewarn you, that in the third stage of Consumption of the Lungs, the Liver, or the Kidneys, the organs are destroyed, the sufferer at death's door, and you need not give this remedy with a view of effecting a cure. If you do you will surely be disappointed, for the most it will do in such cases is to alleviate the sufferings of the patient.

Symptoms.—The symptoms of this disease are so familiar to all, that it is scarcely necessary to note them; but a few of them may not be amiss. Such are, a short dry cough, occurring for the most part on first rising in the morning, and so slight as to become habitual before it excites the attention, of the patient. Sometimes a little shortness of breath on exertion, and some langour and weakness. The patient is soon fatigued, and, easily thrown into a prespiration. Sometimes they are slight dyspeptic symptoms, headache, and night sweats, a small frequent pulse, and there may be expectoration of blood, with uneasiness in the affected lung, and often an inability to persuade the patient that his lungs are affected. These are earlier symptoms; but when the disease is farther advanced, there are symptoms with which every one is acquainted—such as more habitual cough, most troublesome at night and in the morning; increased shortness of breath, pains in the chest, expectoration, which may be mixed with blood, or sometimes clear blood; a bad appetite, debility, leanness of the body, night sweats, burning of the palms of the hands and soles of the feet, &c, &c. Sometimes Consumption and Chronic Bronchitis are present together.

Treatment.—If warm weather, wear a woollen jacket; if cold a fur (musk-rat) jacket, next or near the skin. Wash the body every other morning with soap and cold water (though not so cold as to make the patient chilly afterwards), and rub dry with a coarse Towel; after which, bathe lightly the chest, back and sides, over the lungs, with the Shoshonees Penetrating Restorative Oil (see page 13) and persevere in the strict use of the Remedy and Pills. If the cough is very troublesome, add a little of the Shoshonees Anodyne (see page 13). Eat as hearty as you can of the best (Dr. Josephus recommends goose, duck, venison, roast beef, beef steaks, oysters, lobsters, and particularly of the flesh of the mud turtle), and take advantage of the fresh air on fine days. If you will but carry out these directions, all I can say is, upon the principles above stated, you may rely on a permanent cure.

CROUP.

Symptoms.—Croup sometimes creeps on with hoarseness, cough, wheezing, and difficulty of breathing. The voice, in speaking, or coughing, acquires a shrill and peculiar sound. At other times the disease comes on suddenly, and often on first waking from sleep. For a short time the child makes ineffectual efforts to inspire air, and struggles violently; but at length the breath is drawn with a loud crowing sound. The face becomes livid, and the eyes staring and suffused. Sometimes the thumbs are clinched, the fingers and toes flexed, and the joints of the wrist and ancle forcibly bent.

Treatment.—Give an emetic of Ipecac, and put the child in a warm bath. Apply hot water to the throat outside; allow fresh air, and sprinkle the face and chest with cold water. (Oftentimes the fit can be broken without the warm bath.) Give the Remedy and Pills, and continue their use for a length of time afterwards, and by so doing you will remove the predisposition to the disease and avoid future attacks.

WHOOPING COUGH.

The cough in this contagious disease is too well known to require description.

Treatment.—Administer an emetic of Ipecac every two or three days. Bathe the feet in warm water every night on going to bed. Keep the bowels regulated with the Pills, and give the Remedy every six hours, adding, if necessary, a little of the Shoshonees Anodyne (see page 13). If you treat your child in this manner, you will avoid the danger of any chronic complaint of the lungs remaining, you will also avoid such violent fits of coughing as generally attend this complaint and the disease will wear away in half the time.

THRUSH.

This disease of children, which all mothers know, makes its appearance by an eruption of small white specks not only in the throat, but also on the tongue, gums, cheeks, and lips, may be speedily cured by frequently swabbing the mouth and throat with a decoction of linseed, and faithfully administering the Remedy and Pills according to General Directions.

QUINSY.

There is no difficulty in ascertaining when this disease is present. The throat is sore, there is great difficulty in swallowing, and if you open the patient's mouth you will see the enlarged tonsil or tonsils, as one or both are affected, on either side of the throat, looking red and angry.

TREATMENT.—When this disease is commencing, make use of the Shoshonees Sweating Process and apply a large Shoshonees Poultice to the throat, in connection with the use of the Remedy and Pills. But if the disease is chronic, the Remedy and Pills, along with the application of the Shoshonees Poultice at night, and flannel through the day, are all that is necessary; and the Remedy and Pills should be continued in all cases for some time after every trace of the affection has disappeared. If this principle is adhered to, the affection will rarely return again.

DYPHTHERIA.

To all those who have been afflicted with this disease, the throat having been left weak and irritable, as it usually is, whereby they are extremely liable to repeated attacks upon taking the slightest cold, we would say, if you will but adopt the treatment recommended for Chronic Quinsy, this predisposition to the disease will soon be overcome, and the throat restored to its original healthy state.

ASTHMA.

SYMPTOMS.—Asthma is a disease characterized by great difficulty of breathing, occurring in paroxysms, and depending on spasmodic contractions of the bronchial tubes or air passages. Both inspiration and expiration are performed slowly, and with a wheezing noise. The speech becomes difficult and uneasy, cough succeeds, followed by the most anxious difficulty of breathing. The patient is threatened with immediate suffocation, and is obliged instantly to rise from the horizontal position. Sometimes the disease comes on suddenly with extreme difficulty of breathing, and a feeling of constriction in the chest, as if a cord were bound tightly round it.

TREATMENT.—To relieve the paroxysms, administer a table-spoonful of saturated Tincture of Lobelia, which repeat every fifteen minutes until vomiting commences; then after the paroxysm is over, what you require is something that will prevent spasmodic contractions of the bronchial tubes in the future. If this is accomplished, the Asthma is no more; and if you will but perseveringly and regularly administer the Great Shoshonees Remedy and Pills, according to General Directions and apply the Penetrating Restorative Oil, (see page 13,) to the chest every day, all I can say is that though you never had a medicine before that would even make an impression on the disease, you now have in these what will eradicate it from the system, root and branch, in nine cases out of ten.

PLEURISY.

SYMPTOMS.—In this disease some of the symptoms of Acute Bronchitis and Acute Catarrh may be present, but the symptoms by which you may be enabled to distinguish the complaint from all others, are, a sharp pain in the side, generally about the level of the nipple, sometimes shooting to the breast bone, the collar bone, or the arm-pit; a short dry cough. The breathing is frequent and short, and the pain is increased by a deep inspiration.

TREATMENT.—First adopt the Shoshonees Sweating Process (see page 13,) giving the Sweating Tincture in two tea-spoonsful doses, every forty-five minutes; and if this does not relieve the pain in the side, apply the Shoshonees Embrocation (see page 13,) and when the pain is relieved apply the Shoshonees Poultice, and rigidly adhere to the use of the Remedy and Pills adding a small tea-spoonful of the Sweating Tincture to each dose of the Remedy, and if necessary, administer the Shoshonees Anodyne (see page 13). Do this and it will not only effect a speedy cure, but will also ward off the danger of the disease passing into the Chronic form. If the disease has already passed into the chronic form, the symptoms of which very much resemble those of the acute, only in a less degree of severity. If you will but persevere in the use of the Remedy and Pills, assisted by the application of the Shoshonees Poultice at night, you may depend on a permanent cure.

LIVER COMPLAINT.

There might be pages written on this disease, but all that is of any practical service, is to say the disease is divided into various kinds: but what should be aimed at to effect a permanent cure in them all is to procure a free and healthy passage through all the arteries, veins and ducts of the Liver; and as we have in the Great Shoshonees Remedy and Pills that which will positively effectually and permanently accomplish this great end, it is only necessary to give the symptoms collectively of the different varieties, some of which will be present in one case, and others in another case.

Symptoms.—Pain in the right side, increased by breathing, coughing, or lying on the left side; dry cough, difficult breathing, shooting pains in the chest, pain in the right shoulder, sometimes a yellow tinge of the eye, and even jaundice, high colored urine, loss of appetite, costiveness, flatulence, sense of fulness and distension of the stomach, weight or obtuse pain about the Liver; the countenance sallow, the patient is torpid, inactive, or desponding, leanness of the whole body, and a little exercise will put the patient out of breath, and sometimes cause palpitation of the heart. Occasionally there are liver spots, of a greyish or yellowish tinge, on the fore part of the body, or on the face.

Treatment.—Keep the region of the Liver warm, bathe the same part two or three times a day with the Shoshonees Penetrating Restorative Oil. Apply the Shoshonees poultice at night for a few weeks; and above all strictly persevere in the regular use of the Remedy and Pills, according to general Directions, and you need have no fears. The cure will be a permanent cure.

DROPSY.

Dropsy is a disease that is caused by the process of absorption being interrupted, which interruption is caused by impurity of the blood, and impurity of the blood, as is hereafter explained, is caused by disordered functions of the Lacteal Vessels. Hence it is evident that disordered functions of the Lacteal Vessels (and not the disease of the Liver, Kidneys, &c., as has been taught heretofore), is the primary cause or foundation of Dropsy. It is true that Dropsy generally occurs during disease of the Liver, Kidneys, &c., but this is the consequence of those organs becoming diseased under a less degree of impurity of the blood than is generally necessary to cause Dropsy hence they suffer first. The symptoms of Dropsy are so evident that they require no description.

Treatment.—There has never been known such a cure for Dropsy as the Great Shoshonees Remedy; and the reason is, it strikes in part at the very cause of the disease, namely, at the disordered functions of the Lacteal Vessels, hereinafter described. If you will take the Remedy and Pills according to General Directions, and keep the diseased or swollen portion of the body, covered with warm Shoshonees Poultices, you may rely on a cure, if none of the internal organs are in the third stage of Consumption.

SPITTING OF BLOOD AND NIGHT SWEATS.

These symptoms are both generally indications of Consumption, and should not be neglected. If Consumption is actually approaching, lose no time in commencing the treatment for that disease. If the spitting of Blood or night sweats are severe, give from twenty to thirty drops of Elixir of Vitriol in a wine glass of water, two, three, or four times a day, as may be necessary to arrest them; but once the Great Shoshonees Remedy has been used for a time, these symptoms will rarely trouble you.

PAINS IN THE SIDE, BREAST, ETC.

The treatment for pains in the Side, Breast, Back, &c., will vary according to the causes. A dull constant pain in the Right Side, about the short ribs, changing sometimes to the shoulder blade, with a bitter tasting mouth, denotes a disordered Liver (see Liver Complaint). A sharp pain in the side which is aggravated by taking a long breath, denotes Pleurisy (see Pleurisy). Pains in the Chest, a little below and to the right of the breast bone, and not attended with a cough, proceed from the Stomach (see Dyspepsia.) Pains in the back and Loins frequently denotes disease of the Kidney (see Disease of the Kidneys,) heavy pain about the region of the heart which may be accompanied by some palpitation of the organ, very frequently arises through weakness from Dyspepsia (see Dyspepsia). Severe shooting pains under the left Breast, and directly over the Heart, with violent palpitation, indicate disease of that organ, and requires the advice of a physician, as the Great Shoshonees Remedy is not designed for diseased heart. With the exception of these, all other pains can be cured as follows:

Treatment.—If the pain is of an acute character, that is arising suddenly from cold, wet, or damp, &c., and accompanied by fever, thirst, &c., you will make use of the Shoshonees Sweating

Process, and very likely the Shoshonees Embrocation (see page 13) will be necessary, and above all, the Remedy and Pills according to General Directions. If the pain is not acute, but Chronic—that is an old pain—the Shoshonees Poultice at night, and the Shoshonees Penetrating Restorative Oil rubbed well in through the day with the faithful use of the Remedy and Pills, will effect its thorough removal.

DISEASE OF THE KIDNEYS.

Sometimes this disease approaches by paroxysms of greater or less severity, which may be months or even years apart, and accompained by severe pains in the back and loins frequently extending down the thigh. The paroxysms may pass off in a few weeks, having somewhat resembled Lumbago from which disease the patient frequently flatters himself he has been suffering; but sooner or later the blood vessels, ducts and tubes of the Kidneys become to some extent, as it were, dammed up and then the pain in the back becomes more constant, shooting to the groin and farther, which pain may be deep-seated, circumscribed or diffuse, sharp or dull—sometimes only felt upon pressure, coughing, or sneezing—or the disease may commence without the severe paroxysms. Sometimes there is nausea, or vomiting; frequent micturition or disury. The urine may be bloody, scanty, or increased in quantity, pale or high colored. The digestive organs are frequently deranged, and the bowels costive. (The symptoms of Gravel and Urinary Calculi are those of other diseases of the Kidneys as just stated, excepting that the pain is more apt to be aggravated by motion and relieved by rest.) In this state the patient may remain for many months, or even years, if not relieved, till at length the disease passes into the third stage of Consumption of the Kidneys, and then no medicine, not even the Great Shoshonees Remedy, will save life or restore the organ.

Treatment.—Strictly and regularly administer the remedy and pills, according to General Directions, and cover the small of the back and sides, if cold weather, with a piece of fur; if warm weather with flannel, and bathe the same parts night and morning with the Shoshonees Penetrating Restorative Oil. (see page 13). If the case is very bad it will sometimes be necessary to apply the Shoshonees Poultice at night for a while. This is all, and if you will but carry it out, you may depend upon it your disease will disappear.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Symptoms.—Want of appetite, irregular appetite or disgust for food, nausea, sinking or fluttering at the pit of the stomach, flatulence and eructations heartburn, occasional pain in the epigastric region, a sense of fulness or oppression after eating, sometimes amounting to vomiting; or there may be a feeling of langour and depression, relieved by taking food; a furred tongue, langour and aversion to exercise of mind or body, and dejection of spirits. The foregoing symptoms, variously combined, and generally accompained by some disorder in the functions of the bowels and of the liver, constitute the most common form of Dyspepsia. But yet obstinate vomiting, fluttering, and sometimes pain at the heart, cold extremities, a tendency of blood to the head, headache, vertigo, dimness of vision, bright spots or webs before the eyes, suffocative sensations when lying, and noises in the ears, pain under the shoulder blade, and inward piles, are frequently symptoms of Dyspepsia; to which may be added, very sharp pain in the stomach, waterbrash, vomiting of blood, and various other strange sensations throughout the entire system.

Treatment.—Administer the Great Shoshonees Remedy and Pills, according to general Directions, allow the best food you can obtain—only avoid indigestibles, as hard eggs, hot buns, pork, eels, cheese, raw vegetables, nuts, &c.—and bathe over the stomach once a day with the Shoshonees Penetrating Restorative Oil. If there are symptoms of disease of the liver, see the treatment for that disease. This is all, and if you will but rigidly adhere to it, you will find, before very long, that the once plague of your life has disappeared.

☞ THE SHOSHONEES SWEATING TINCTURE.—Take Snake-root, bruised; Gum Arabic; Powdered Opium, Saffron, Mezereon, Camphor, and Powdered Ipecac, of each a quarter of an ounce, and Holland Gin three quarters of a pint—mix all in a glass bottle, cork tightly, and let it stand in a warm room for a week or a fortnight, occasionally shaking—then strain. Dose for an adult, a teaspoonful; and for a child, 20 to 25 drops, every hour, in warm catnip tea, till it causes perspiration. ☞Will you get this Sweating-Tincture? Get it and keep it in your house, as it never fails in producing free perspiration. Get it, as it is very useful in many diseases. Get it, as the cost is but trifling. Get it! Get it!

☞ THE SHOSHONEES SWEATING PROCESS.—Soak the feet at bed-time for twenty minutes, in a bucket of warm water; then cover up warm in bed. Drink a bowl of warm gruel, and take the Shoshonees Sweating Tincture according to directions; or if you have not this, drink warm herb tea or hoarhound, till sweating commences.

☞ THE SHOSHONEES POULTICE.—This is made by mixing linseed meal—that is flaxseed meal—with warm water, to a proper consistency; then spreading it very heavily on cotton and smearing the Poultice over with a mixture of one part of the Shoshonees Penetrating Restorative Oil, and two parts of goose oil or salad oil.

☞ THE SHOSHONEES ANODYNE.—This is made by mixing together half a pint of syrup of squill, one quarter of a pint of best brandy, one ounce of laudanum, and one quarter of a pint of honey put all into a bottle, cork tightly, and shake well before using. Dose for an adult, a dessert-spoonful—that is half a table-spoonful—and for a child from a quarter to half a small tea-spoonful according to the age. As the Remedy is not intended to allay symptoms suddenly, but rather to act upon and gradually remove the cause of the symptoms—that is the disease—from the system, you will sometimes find it necessary, for the purpose of allaying cough or pain, to administer a dose of the Shoshonees Anodyne, once in two, four, or six hours, as may be required. It may be given with the Remedy or without it

☞ THE SHOSHONEES EMBROCATION.—Take red pepper and black pepper, of each a table-spoonful, and best brandy one pint. Simmer together for five or ten minutes. Apply by means of flannel to the affected part, as hot as can be borne. This Embrocation is far better than mustard plasters

---

☞ THE SHOSHONEES PENETRATING RESTORATIVE OIL.—Take of goose oil—sometimes called goose grease—4 oz., salad oil 3 oz., fresh butter 5 oz., cod-liver oil ½ oz., oil of origanum 1 oz., oil of Juniper, ½ oz., and, if you can get them at all, add 2 oz. of Bear's grease, 1 oz. of mud-turtle oil or grease, and 2 oz. of the oil of angle or fish worms—made by heating the worms in a bottle. Melt all together, and stir while cooling. In using this oil on any part of the body, it is necessary to wash the part every day or two with soap and water, just before an application of the oil

☞ HEALING OINTMENT.—Take white wax ointment one ounce and a half, and oxide of zinc two drachms—mix them well together. In applying this ointment to fever sores, ulcers, &c., the affected part requires to be washed occasionally, which is to be done by dipping a piece of sponge or linen cloth into warm castile soap-suds, and squeezing the suds from the sponge or cloth, so that it will fall on the sore; but never rub the sore with anything. Get the materials of this ointment at a respectable drug store; they will only cost a few cents.

☞ ACUTE AND CHRONIC DISEASES.—A Disease which comes on suddenly from cold, damp, or wet, &c., with a certain degree of severity, has a rapid progress, and is of short duration, is said to be Acute; but Chronic Diseases are those whose duration is long and whose symptoms proceed slowly. An Acute Disease, if not properly treated, often subsides into the Chronic, and may last for years before it destroys the patient's life which it is certain eventually to do if not removed by proper treatment.

☞ IN THIS TREATISE you will find given, sufficiently full and explicit, symptoms on the various diseases on which it treats; but you will bear in mind that it is a very rare thing to find all the symptoms that are herein given, to indicate a particular disease, present at once in any individual case; but there will always be quite enough of them to clear all doubt as to the nature of the disease.

THE GREAT SHOSHONEES REMEDY.—THE DIGESTIVE ORGANS AND LACTEAL VESSELS.—THE NEW THEORY OF THE ORIGIN OF DISEASE, &c.

We do not feel satisfied to close this treatise without stating, for the information of the community generally, that it has been proved lately, beyond all doubt, that the wonderful healing properties of the Great Shoshonees Remedy are due to its peculiar and salutary effect, not only on the organs themselves, for diseases of which it is recommended, but also on the blood, the digestive organs, and the lacteal vessels. It is now an established fact, that our food is digested in the stomach and upper part of the small intestines—that is that the food here goes through a peculiar process, by which its nutrient portion—the very juice and cream of what we eat—is separated from the great bulk which passes off effete matter by the bowels; and that the lacteal vessels, after the food has been thus submitted to the action of the digestive organs, absorb or gather up its nutrient portion, or cream as it were, and conveys it into the blood, through the circulation of which it is distributed to every part and particle of the system, for the support and building up of the body. Now this being admitted, it must certainly be very evident that the lacteal vessels are among the most important of all the internal organs of the system, and that unless they—the lacteal vessels—along with the digestive organs, are in a healthy condition, and performing their functions properly, the blood must be impure and vitiated, and the system extremely liable to disease of the internal organs, as well as to scrofula, to all the various humors, to the great variety of skin diseases, to cancer, &c. It has lately become an established fact, that during any disease in which the functions of the digestive organs are disturbed, or in any way deranged, these lacteal vessels become sluggish, inactive or in some way diseased, and when we come to look at the argument that such should be the case, is not at all surprising; but on the contrary, it would appear in opposition to nature that it should be otherwise. For, when very little food is taken for a length of time, these lacteal vessels have but little to do, and consequently become weak, inactive and contracted; or, on the other hand, even though plenty of food be taken if it is not properly and thoroughly digested the nutrient portion or cream, as we have called it, is not sufficiently refined, and consequently these lacteal vessels are overcharged with the laborious task of taking up this unnatural and impure substance, and conveying it into the blood. Now it is more than evident that all this has a tendency not only to choke up and destroy the functions of the lacteal vessels, but also to contaminate the blood with coarse and destructive substances or particles, and these coarse particles as they float in the circulation of the blood, through the internal organs, as the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, &c., stick fast in the delicate passages and ducts of these various organs, and thereby choking or damming them up, cut off the circulation of blood through them, and consequently the nourishment for their support. Then of course, often assisted by cold settling on the weak part, arise Consumption, Liver Complaint, Kidney Disease, &c., according to the organ affected. We often hear it remarked of the afflicted, "O, he was not well, and should have been more careful--he took cold very easily." In this there is more truth than poetry. Then again, exactly in the same way, these impurities passing through the various tender and delicate glands of the body, kindle up scrofula or king's evil, and all manner of humors. And again, in like manner, these same impurities floating in the blood, as it passes through the fine and delicate passages or vessels of the skin, block or dam them up, and thereby produce Skin Disease, in variety according to the amount of impurity of the blood, or, in other words, according to the extent to which these fine vessels are blocked up; and if the impurity is very poisonous, the consequence is often Cancer. At other times with varying circumstances, upon identically the same principle, through interruption of the functions of various parts, we have Tumors, Abscesses, Ulcers, Fever Sores, Boils, Carbuncles, Irritation of the Brain, Chronic Inflamed Eyes, Rheumatism, Gout, Piles, Sore Head, Ring-worms, Rickets, Disease of the Spine, Vermin, Disease of the Veins, Female Diseases, &c., and oftentimes, when the impurity of the Blood is of a peculiar rankness, it affects the Nervous System, causing Neuralgia, Loss of Sight, Spasms, Cramps, Paralysis or Palsy, Deafness, &c. This is the new Theory and true principle of Disease. The fault lies, generally assisted by Cold, Damp, Wet, &c., in the Digestive Organs, and more particularly in the Lacteal Vessels. How vastly different to what has been universally supposed! Now knowing that Disease cannot be cured without striking at its cause Root or Foundation, and as this is principally in the Lacteal Vessels, which vessels have been heretofore so grossly overlooked and sadly neglected by physicians, is it to be wondered at that diseases of the Internal Organs, Scrofula, all kinds of Humors, Skin Diseases, &c., have been so difficult of cure. The credit of this discovery is due to Drs. H. B. Jasper, of Moborough Bay, M. K. Hall, R. Simerson, and T. F. Likeman of St. Louis, who were induced to study and sift the subject from witnessing the astounding effects of the Great Shoshonees Remedy in those diseases. Now it must be evident to all, that if we undertake to treat disease of the Internal Organs, Scrofula, Skin Diseases, the various Humors, &c., upon the principles heretofore adopted, namely, those of administering medicines which act only on the organ or part affected, or only on the blood, we will have great difficulty, as always has been the case to even partially remove the disease. For in the first instance, though we do get the organ pretty well cleared up, the blood circulating through it being so contaminated with impure and coarse particles, the organ or part, once the medicine is stopped, of course in a short time, becomes choked up as bad as ever. And in the second instance, though we get the blood partially purified, which is all that is possible while the Lacteal Vessels are constantly furnishing impure substances, there is nothing to directly restore the organ or part affected; and even though there was, as soon as the medicine is left off, the impure supply being constantly kept up by the unnatural functions of the Disordered Lacteal Vessels and Digestive Organs, the Blood is soon contaminated as bad as ever, and consequently the organ or part returns to its original unhealthy condition, and the disease, as the cry is in both cases, has returned; and so it will continue to be so long as such treatment is adopted. Now, what we want is not a medicine of any one particular nature, but a combination of a variety of medicines, possessing a variety of principles, which will have a salutary effect, not only on the organ or part affected, nor only on the blood, but on both, and also on the Digestive Organs and Lacteal Vessels, opening the channels and passages of all, and giving them strength and vigor; and then we have a compound that will not only restore the diseased organ or part, and purify the blood but will also restore the functions of the Digestive Organs and Lacteal Vessels in consequence of which, the blood, will be kept purified by being deprived of the supply of destructive particles, with which it was before furnished, and the cure of the organ or part will be permanent. Now, if you want a medicinal compound that contains, in the highest degree, all these properties, all I can say to you is, get the Great Shoshonees Remedy, and you will have it, you will positively have it! It will yet be remembered that the Remedy is recommended more especially for diseases of the Internal Organs. Not that its effects are inferior in the treatment of the various Humors, Syphilis, Scrofula, Skin Diseases, &c., but because the former diseases bring life into more immediate peril, and consequently a certain remedy for their removal is of vastly more importance than for the latter diseases: hence we wish particularly to impress the memory with the importance of this Great Remedy in those diseases. Yet though these latter complaints are not so destructive to life, they often cause it to be but a burden to those afflicted with them; and we would say to such, and to all those afflicted with these latter diseases, if you will make use of the Great Shoshonees Remedy and Pills, according to General Directions, and wherever it is possible, as in Scrofulous Swellings, Tumors, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, &c., apply the Shoshonees Penetrating Restorative Oil (see page 13), rubbing it well in twice a day, and washing it off with soap and warm water before re-applying. (In all cases of Fever Sores, Healing Sores, and Ulcers, apply the Healing Ointment, (see page 13). You will admit that you could not have believed that any medicine could have performed such wonderful effects, in eradicating disease, sign and symptom, root and branch, as shall have this Great Remedy. And, finally, to those who have injured themselves in the innocency of youth, being utterly ignorant of the evil consequences of such a habit until it was too late, as in your case the functions of the Digestive Organs, Lacteal Vessels, and the Blood are fearfully deranged, and consequently those of the Internal Organs, the whole Nervous System and the entire Body, we would say, a few bottles of the Remedy, with the Pills, will do a thousand times more for you than any other treatment you can possibly undergo.

KEEP THE BOTTLE TIGHTLY CORKED.

☞ If you will but persevere in the use of this Great Remedy, you will find a permanent cure, if your disease is not in the third stage of Consumption.

GENERAL DIRECTIONS.

FOR USING THE REMEDY—

Dose for an Adult, a table-spoonfull, night and morning.
" " Child ten years old, a dessert-spoonful night and morning.
" " " five " " a tea-spoonful, " " "
" " " one " " half tea-spoonful " " "

(In bad cases, it will sometimes be better to take this quantity three times a day.)

☞ For any variation from the above mode of administration, see the various diseases for which it is recommended.

FOR USING THE PILLS in connection with the Remedy—

The object to be aimed at in using the Pills in connection with the Remedy, is to keep the bowels as regularly open, once in the morning, and once in the evening, as possible: but at all events insure two free motions in the day. To make it more explicit, we would say, the Pills are not intended for a strong physic, but rather for a laxative regulator; and when you commence the use of the Remedy, take one Pill each day before dinner. From the first two or three, you may in some cases observe little or no change; but in three or four days, if you find they are not regulating the bowels, so that there are two free motions in the day, increase the dose gradually to produce this effect; but do not allow the bowels to remain in any way costive, or it will have a tendency to injure the good effects of the Remedy.

Manufactured strictly in accordance with the Original Recipe and Instructions of the Eminent Indian, DR. LEWIS JOSEPHUS.

ALTHOUGH but lately introduced into the country, we have in our possession an innumerable quantity of Certificates, in reference to the wonderful healing properties of the Great Shoshonees Remedy. But feeling inclined to let the Remedy rest, in each locality, upon its own virtues (which we feel confident will give it a victorious sway), rather than on testimonials, we decline publishing many. Yet as it may be satisfactory to some, to hear the individual testimony of those who have already tried its virtues, we insert a few of them.

CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT AND DYSPEPSIA IN CANADA.

Consecon, Prince Edward Co., C.W., March, 1867.

MESSRS. YOUNG & CHAMBERLAIN,--Sirs, Having proved within my own person that there is at last a medicine that will indeed cure liver complaint and Dyspepsia, I am induced to make this statement, under oath, which is to certify that I have been sorely afflicted for the last three years, according to the Doctors statements, with Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia. I had a feeling of sinking and vague uneasiness about the stomach, worse than pain, eructations of wind, occasional pain, drowsiness, constipation, uneasiness in the right side, headache, a poor appetite, &c., &c., and was greatly reduced in strength. Hearing your new Indian medicine the Great Shoshonees Remedy spoken of so highfily, I tried a bottle with your Pills, from these I must say I found but little change, but I took another and then found my health improving. I continued it until I have taken about ten bottles, using the Pills, and I find that I have quite recovered. I eat hearty without pain or uneasiness. I am well and have pleasure in attending to my business. The doctor remarked to me I was looking much better. I told him the Grea Shoshonees Remedy was doing it. I have recommended the Remedy in several cases and it has invariably given good satisfaction, and I would strongly recommend it to all afflicted as I was WONDERFUL CURE OF CONSUMPTION BY THE GREAT SHOSHONEES REMEDY IN CANADA.

MESSRS. YOUNG & CHAMBERLAIN.—Gentlemen, I, WILSON STORMS, make oath and say, I feel anxious to let you know what the Great Shoshonees Remedy has affected for me My wife was afflicted with Consumption, and died. I was also afflicted with the same disease, and after her death, I continued sinking just as she had done. I had very severe night sweats; coughed nearly all night and every night, could not sleep unless a little towards morning; I raised over a quart of matter every 24 hours, had severe pain in the left lung, &c., &c., and was greatly debilitated; in fact I was going as fast as I could. I was taking medicine from a regular physician, but it did not even relieve my cough. I went to the village one day, about a quarter of a mile, which took me to go and come, about two hours; while there I saw Esquire Willington, and happened to say to him, "I wish you could give me something to relieve my cough." He said, "there is a Great Indian Remedy just introduced, Dr. Barker has it for sale, and I believe it will cure you." I took his advice, and brought a bottle home with me, took a tea-spoonful at once, which I felt through my whole system. At night I took a table-spoonful, and rested well all night and continued to rest well every night. The cough, night-sweats, raising of matter, pain in the lung, &c., gradually left me, and I got hearty and strong. I took only three bottles, I am not taking it now, and I am as hearty and as well as I ever was in my life. My sister-in-law was with me for awhile, who was affected with liver complaint, she has taken the Remedy and is well. This certificate you may show to the world if you please.

GREAT CURE OF DYSPEPSIA OF ELEVEN YEARS STANDING IN CANADA.

Tweed, March, 1867.

YOUNG & CHAMBERLAIN.—Gents, This is to certify that I, Cory Quigley, make oath and say that for the past eleven years I was afflicted with Dyspepsia. I had a severe and distressing pain in my stomach and side, I could often eat hearty but it would always cause me great distress and vomiting, and I was constantly regurgitating into my mouth the food that I had taken with a sour, bitter, and oily taste. I had irregular pains between the shoulders, in the back, head, and other parts of the body, had heartburn, a bad taste in the morning, &c. I was so reduced and weak that I could scarcely do anything. But it makes me light hearted to state that I have used the Great Shoshonees Remedy with good results. It has marked a new era in my existence, I eat hearty, my food is now well digested, I have no vomiting, no uneasiness, no pain, nor disagreeable sensations, and feel a lively energy to attend to my business. You are at liberty to publish this if you wish.

CURE OF DYSPEPSIA OF EIGHT YEARS STANDING IN THE PERSON OF A VERY WEALTHY LADY IN CANADA.

BATH, Lennox & Addington Co., C. W., Sep., 1866.

MESSRS. YOUNG & CHAMBERLAIN. — Gentlemen, I have no hesitation in stating that I have used the Great Shoshonees Remedy, and it has remarkably improved my health. About eight years ago I was very sick all summer from a severe attack of Dyspepsia, from which I never recovered. Every summer until this, since that time, I have been painfully reduced and confined to my bed, and never could I before get any medicine that would prevent those severe attacks. My stomach never would bear the ordinary tonics such as Quinine, the Pure Bitters, &c. I have used, since last spring, three bottles of the Remedy, and it has perfectly agreed with me and has prevented the severe attacks that I had on former summers, it has strengthened my stomach, increased my appetite, built up my system, &c., so that I feel and have felt all summer quite well. You may make this, the statement of my case, known to all whom it may concern.

ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE OF CONSUMPTION IN CANADA.

MESSRS. YOUNG & CHAMBERLAIN,—Sirs, I feel that it is a duty I owe to you, as well as the public, to inform you of the most wonderful cure of Consumption, accomplished in my person, by the use of that astounding Indian Medicine, the Great Shoshonees Remedy, and the Shoshonees Vegetable Restorative Pills. About four years ago I went to Napanee to live, previous to that my health was not good; when I was in that town about two years, I found that my health was decidedly failing, and for the last six months that I was there, I failed very rapidly, so much so that I was obliged finally to give up my business to my partner. I then left the town and returned to my father's home within about a mile of Bath, C. W., where all who knew me thought I had come to die. I coughed a great deal by day as well as at night, expectorating large quantities of matter, and had a great pain about my left lung. I had cold chills every day, and severe night sweats every night, and between the racking cough and great sweating, I was almost deprived of sleep; by these miseries as well as the loss of appetite, I was so reduced that I could not much more than stand alone. I was under the care of a physician for a length of time, but finding no relief, I tried different recipes, but all were without any good effect. I was speaking to Esquire Peterson, of Bath, one day, and he recommended me to use the Great Shoshonees Remedy; I took his advice and procured three bottles at once, with the Pills; as soon as I commenced using it I began to get better, and when I had finished this complement, the Cough, expectoration of matter, pain about the lung, chills, sweating, &c., left me; and by continuing its use I became strong and healthy, and felt perfectly well. It is now over two months since I quit taking the Remedy, and there have been no symptoms of the disease returning, and I have been, and am now, healthier and better than I have been for many years. I trust you will make this known to the public, that they may be aware of the peculiar virtues of this truly wonderful Indian Remedy.

MESSRS. Y. & C.,—I have no hesitation in stating that I have been very poorly for the past two years, from Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia; I was afflicted with a bad pain in my right side, had a very poor appetite, and a sense of weakness and sinking about the stomach; in fact what I ate seemed like a rough, distressing load. I have used the Great Shoshonees Remedy, and am more than pleased to state that it has removed the pain in my side, and my stomach has quite recovered.

My son was taken with a bad cough and spitting of blood from taking cold, he used the Remedy and quickly recovered.

WONDERFUL CURE OF KIDNEY DISEASE IN CANADA.

Certificate from Mrs. George Francis, of Stirling, Hastings Co., C. W.

MESSRS. YOUNG & CHAMBERLAIN,—Gentlemen, This is to certify, that I have used the Great Shoshonees Remedy with wonderful success. I was painfully afflicted for several years with disease of the Kidneys and have suffered beyond account. I have been under the care of three different physicians, but without any good results, their treatment did not even alleviate my sufferings. I took a bottle of the Indian Remedy, and it seemed to help me, I then got more, and have taken in all four bottles, and am more than delighted to state that I am quite recovered, and enjoy that health which I feared I never should. I have had some misgivings as to sending this certificate, but when I realize my suffering condition for years, and what this great Indian Remedy has done for me, I consider that I cannot, in justice to suffering humanity, withhold it; you are therefore at liberty to make use of it as you see fit.

CERTIFICATE FROM A VERY RESPECTABLE JUSTICE OF THE PEACE IN CANADA.

MESSRS. YOUNG & CHAMBERLAIN,—Gentlemen, I have been thinking that a word to you concerning the wonderful healing properties of the Great Shoshonees Remedy, in my case, might not be amiss; it has done vastly more for me than any other medicine I ever used; it has indeed done wonders for me, for it is in fact the only thing I ever got to place me on my feet in the summer season, during which season, to be down sick, not to speak of my sufferings, was, in business affairs, of very great damage to my family and myself. I have been a very great sufferer for years from disease of the Kidneys and Liver. So sorely was I afflicted, that I was utterly unable every summer to attend to my business; my sufferings have been very great indeed; I have been so reduced and racked with pain, that in spite of all treatment, my friends thought it impossible, at times, for me to survive many hours. Every thing else failing, I was persuaded to try that peculiar Indian Compound, the Great Shoshonees Remedy, which has surely proved all in all to me; I have used two bottles and am at the third, and I am now, and have been this summer the first for several years, quite hearty and strong, and well able to attend to my business. You are at liberty to make what use of this certificate you deem prudent.

CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, AND NERVOUS SICK HEADACHE, OF FORTY YEARS STANDING, IN CANADA.

CRESSEY, Prince Edward Co., C. W., Sept., 1866.

MESSRS. YOUNG & CHAMBERLAIN, — Gentlemen, I can assure you that it affords me very great pleasure indeed to be able to inform you of the most wonderful effects of the Great Shoshonees Remedy upon my constitution.—I have been a great sufferer for the past forty years from Dyspepsia and a most excrutiating and deathly sick Headache, I have been at times so bad that I would scarcely know my friends when they called to witness my sufferings.—I have frequently been taken while travelling on horse back, when I had to dismount and lie down in the corner of the fence in agony, and thought my head would really burst.—For the past eight or ten years I have suffered greatly from pain in the stomach, and have always been obliged to eat such food as was easily digested. Indeed it is not possible for man to conceive the extent of my sufferings, for one would think it impossible for a mortal to undergo such and live.—Of late years I have been afflicted also with Constipation and symptoms of Piles. It would be useless for me to attempt to state how many physicians I have consulted, or what my doctor bills have been, I have also used a great variety of patent medicines, but all, I may say, to no avail whatever, until I tried this Great Indian Remedy; some time ago before this Remedy was introduced I saw a celebrated bitters recommended very strongly for my complaint, I got seven bottles and used it all, but when I had it finished I was worse than when I commenced. I was and in fact had long been about discouraged. When I first heard of the Great Shoshonees Remedy, I did not get it, but reading statements of wonderful cures made by parties actually living in Canada and in such a manner that I could not doubt them, I resolved to try it. However before I procured any, a friend of mine brought me a bottle of it saying that he wished me to take that remedy, for he believed though every thing else had failed it would cure me. I used this bottle with the Pills, and finding some relief from it I procured a few more which had also the same effect. I have had in all, about a dozen bottles. From the time I took the third bottle my attacks got decidedly lighter until finally they have for weeks left me altogether, which they never done before. The pain in the stomach left me shortly after I commenced the Remedy, and has not in any degree returned All symptoms of Constipation and Piles have also disappeared. The Pills are mild and truly wonderful in their effects. The Remedy, has indeed a wonderful influence in purifying the blood, for after I had taken a few bottles, a rash, hot and itching, broke out over, nearly my whole body, I still persevered in taking the Remedy. After a time the rash disappeared, and I found that I was like another man. I was strong and hearty and full of life, spirit, ambition and strength, with a wonderful appetite, and no symptoms of indigestion. In fact I consider this Great Indian Remedy, as I have seen stated, the greatest boon ever laid upon the altar of suffering humanity, and I cannot in justice to such humanity any longer withhold this certificate. GREAT CURE OF A GREAT SUFFERER FROM PRIVATE DISEASE, IN CANADA.

MESSRS. YOUNG & CHAMBERLAIN. — If any human being since the world began ever experienced heartfelt grattitude, it is I, while I write these lines. No mortal, I believe ever had greater reasons to be truly thankful for any occurrence, than I have for the discovery of the Great Shoshonees Remedy, for it has restored me from a life of sorrow, misery, pangs and agony, to that once unexpected state of cheerfulness vigor, and health. Believe me I have not words to express my feelings, tongue cannot express, nor unless it is of one who has been equally afflicted, can the mind conceive the amount, or extent of my sufferings. I could enumerate many distressing symptoms, some of which were constantly present and others occurring when I assumed certain attitudes, were it necessary, or prudent. It is natural to suppose that a person in this condition would make an effort to be relieved, and indeed I did, and many of them. Failing at home as well as in Montreal, and Toronto, my husband advised me to go to New York, which we did, and consulted an eminent physician there, he called in a consultation, and the second consultation, and they agreed upon a treatment, a part of which was to keep me lying on my face for a fortnight. I submitted in hopes of relief, but came home no better than I went. Finally I saw a treatise on the Great Shoshonees Remedy and resolved to try it. I procured two bottles, they had a good effect, I then bought more, and have taken now nearly twelve bottles, and my disease, which gradually vanished, I rejoice in stating, has altogether disappeared, and I am well. As this note may be made public, it would not be prudent for me to inscribe my name, my feelings say give it, my education declines, unless thus.

CURE OF AN ERUPTIVE HUMOR ON THE HEAD AND DEBILITY.—CERTIFICATE FROM MRS. R. R. FINKLE OF BATH, C.W.

MESSRS. YOUNG & CHAMBERLAIN.—It is gratifying to me to be able to inform you, that the Great Shoshonees Remedy is working admirably in my case. About three years ago my health began to fail, all relish for food departed from me, and I became, and have continued ever since, until this summer, greatly reduced in strength. I was taken with a bad pain in the head, and an Eruptive Humor about the head and ears, which symptoms and annoyances, like my debility, (the pain in the head being periodical), have continued bad ever since, until the present summer, in the face of all that could seemingly be done, for during my illness, I have been under the care of many physicians, but their treatment did not seem to suit my case, for I got no better; not so with this Great Indian Remedy, yes, I may say with others, this Wonderful Indian Remedy; for during the present summer, I have taken nearly four bottles of it, and it has wonderfully improved my health, my bodily strength, which was very poor, is good; I relish my victuals and eat hearty, and my food now causes no symptoms of indigestion, and I feel hearty and well. The eruption about my ears has not quite disappeared, but that upon my head, stubborn as it was, has altogether left me. I am still taking the Remedy, and if I continue to improve under it as I have done, it will soon effect a final cure. As soon as the least sign of Eruptive Humor about my ears has disappeared, which is about all that is wanting, I will send you a certificate of a final cure if you wish it.

GREAT CURE AND ADVICE IN CANADA.

Abstract from a very lengthy letter.

Messrs. Young & Chamberlain.—Dear Sirs, I have taken fourteen bottles of the Great Shoshonees Remedy, and nearly eleven boxes of the Pills, which indeed, I do not regret, nor would I, had they been five dollars a bottle, instead of one. At first I believed it would help me, and after the third bottle I found a decided improvement in my health, which has been continuous, and I believe I am as sound and as well to-day as I ever was, &c.

When I was fifteen years old, our hired man roomed with me, and his habits and teachings was my downfall. The habit, in innocence acquired, destroyed my constitution, my memory, my mind, and my nervous system. It left me inactive, lazy, stupid, and at times scarcely right in my mind, without power to form a resolution, and was not at all suspected for my illness, etc. My parents told me I was lazy, and a nobody, and doctors concurred in their opinion, and O, I was the sufferer in mind and body. But I can rejoice now, and I do rejoice, that I ever met with this Great Indian Remedy.

How often I wished, if I dared, to say to parents, Oh fathers and mothers keep your youths from the bed, the room, or the company of those who might teach them this awful habit; and the delicate, and apparently modest young man, with whom you sympathise and in whom you place implicit confidence, is often most apt to be a teacher. Remember this! I say remember it. I sign my name to this note with the decided understanding that, if it is published my name will not be. .....

We decline giving the name but have permission to state that information may be had concerning the above, by addressing a letter post paid, to B. B. Box 20, Cressey, P. O., Prince Edward Co., C. W.

A DRUGGIST writes thus:—Bath. Lennox & Addington Co., C. W., Sept. 6, 1866. Messrs. Young & Chamberlain—Gentlemen,—Your Indian Medicine, the Great Shoshonees Remedy is commanding a very large sale in this locality. It is giving every satisfaction, and its sales are constantly increasing; in fact, in every respect, although but a few months introduced, it has become the Medicine of medicines of the market. If you require it, I can procure many very strong certificates of cures, from most respectable people, who have been using it. I have sold out the last lot you sent me, excepting one bottle. A couple of days since I ordered more, which will you be good enough to hasten along; if you have not yet sent them, please forward six dozen of the Remedy, and as many of the accompanying Pills. Anxiously awaiting their arrival

CURE OF DYSPEPSIA OF EIGHT YEARS STANDING.

School Section, No.——
Near Whitby, C. W.

To all whom it may concern.—This is to certify, that I have been afflicted for about eight years with Dyspepsia and I know indeed what it is to suffer its pangs and ills, but I rejoice to know also now what it is to be relieved from such suffering. I was under the care of physicians and tried all the principle patent medicines of the market for my complaint but to no effect. Fortunately for me during the year 1866, I went to Prince Edward Co. on a visit, and while there my friends spoke to me in high terms of the efficacy of the Great Shoshonees Remedy I was persuaded to use a bottle with its accompanying Pills, and to my astonishment I found that it improved my health most remarkably, I of course, continued its use, and have had in all four bottles, it has relieved me of the catalogue of distressing symptoms, I feel hearty, and am well able to prosecute my Scholastic duties. I care not where this testimonial goes I am prepared to meet it.

A DRUGGIST WRITES THUS:

Whitby, C. W., 27th Feb. 1867.

Messrs. Young and Chamberlain,—Gentlemen, the sales of your Great Shoshonees Remedy and Pills, are still increasing so rapidly that you had better send me at least half a gross of each at once by express. The two dozen got eight days ago are almost gone, and to save trouble in writing so often, don't send less than six dozen of the Remedy and as many Pills. There have been some astonishing cures of Dyspepsia, of Liver Complaint, and even of Consumption in this neighbourhood, from the use of your Great Remedies which have forced me to a change of opinion in regard to its merits since I first saw you.

I am, yours respectfully

SUNDRY CERTIFICATES.

CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, of Thirty Years' standing, in the person of the well-known Captain Forekooth, of St. Louis.

Dr. Jasper.—Dear Sir, If any one has reason to be thankful for the discovery of the Great Shoshonees Remedy, it is I. I have suffered from Dyspepsia for over thirty years. I have tried nearly every remedy and many of our first physicians, but all in vain. For the last ten years I have scarcely had a day's comfort. I have been tormented with flatulence, nausea, sour eructations and heartburn. No appetite, and when I did eat I felt a sense of fulness, oppression, and pain about the stomach. I became greatly debilitated, and afflicted with costiveness, piles, and various other annoyances and I can assure you that often I felt very indifferent as to whether I should live or die. I will not say what my doctors bills have been for the last thirty years, for no one could believe it; but when I first saw a notice of the Great Shoshonees Remedy, something seemed to say to me, Try it—try it. I did try it, and I have now taken nearly six bottles of it, and I have no hesitation in saying that no man ever enjoyed better health than I do to-day; and I am not the only one, for I can number over twenty whom, to my knowledge, have been lately cured of Dyspepsia in this city by the same Remedy.

CURE OF CONSUMPTION.

Dr. Jasper,—Sir,—The Great Shoshonees Remedy has wrought a wonderful cure in the case of my wife. For three years she has been a sufferer to that dreadful disease Consumption. The first year Dr. Copper gave us some encouragement but after this she became much worse, other functions likewise became deranged. Then Dr. Copper with five other physicians, told me there was no chance of her recovery. During the last year she became very feeble; the cough was very harassing, which was attended with abundant expectoration, and sometimes clear blood. Night sweats were frequent, and pain in the left side severe and constant, and she had no appetite. I was of course preparing to meet the worst; but while engaged in conversation one day with my friend Squire Forest, he told me there was a Great Remedy just introduced into the City by Dr. Jasper, for such diseases, which he believed was a certain cure. When I heard it was an Indian Remedy, it made me more eager to try it. I procured three bottles at once. She felt something better from the first, and after she had taken three more she could eat and sleep well. She is now at the eighth bottle, and is quite strong and hearty; no sign of the disease or any of its consequences remains, and I believe she is perfectly well. The doctors are confounded, and no wonder.

CURE OF LIVER COMPLAINT.

Dr. Jasper,—My dear Sir, I can assure you that it affords me pleasure to be able to tell you that the Great Shoshonees Remedy which you have lately introduced into this City, has done more for me than any person could have believed possible. I had indeed been a sufferer, for over eleven years, from disease of the Liver, for the principal part of which time I had been doctoring with some of the first physicians in the country, yet without any permanently good result. I finally became extremely miserable; my appetite left me, I became a mere skeleton, and Dr. Davis stated that my left lung had also become affected, and said all he could do was to relieve my sufferings. My wife upon hearing of your Remedy, stated to me that she felt a conviction this was the medicine that would reach my complaint. After hearing of its virtues, I consented to take it and have now taken five bottles, and I believe I am well. My appetite is good, I have no pain or cough, and I feel quite strong and hearty, and well able to attend to my avocations.

Believe me to be sincerely grateful,

Rev. H. FOSTER.

CURE OF KIDNEY DISEASE.

Dr. Jasper.—Sir,—This is to certify, that six years ago I hurt my back during a fire lifting a large iron safe in my office, from which I never recovered. I was in bed for nine weeks, and was afterwards taken with Chronic Disease of the Kidneys, which gradually grew worse, in spite of all treatment—for I was under the care of four different physicians—until finally I was so reduced that I could only move about the room on crutches. At this time, Captain Marshal told me that his son had taken nearly two bottles of the new medicine (the Great Shoshonees Remedy,) for a bad disease of the Liver and Lungs, from which Dr. Percy had stated he could not recover, and was now very much better, and still rapidly improving. I had seen an account of the Remedy and knew that it was equally recommended for disease of the Kidneys; and having the assurance of such authority as Captain Marshal, I resolved to give it a trial. When I had taken the first bottle, I thought I felt no better; my friends said I was, but I should have given it up, had it not been that every one that came to see me were speaking of the wonderful cures it was working. When I took the second bottle I felt much better, and after I had taken the third I was able to walk out with a cane. I have now taken six bottles, and feel as though I had never been sick a day in my life. Of course I also strictly observed the collateral treatment of the Indian Doctor, given in the treatise accompanying each bottle of the Remedy. Let me tell you, Dr. Jasper, that this Indian Remedy will never die; and if a wish would do it, I would will you the same lease of life.

CURE OF SCROFULOUS HUMOUR.

Mr. Jasper.—Dear Sir, I am only glad that opportunity offers, to state what the Great Shoshonees Remedy has done for me. My blood has been in a fearful state from Scrofulous Humors for over twenty years. I have had bad running Fever Sores on my legs. I have repeatedly had over a dozen boils on my legs at once; at other times my face chest and hands, have been covered with a sometimes smarting, and sometimes itching, scaly eruption, which would sometimes discharge matter, and at other times would be red, angry and raw. There was something all the time. None but them who saw me, could form any idea how I suffered for years. I was under some treatment constantly, but it seemed as though my case defied all medicine which it did until this wonderful Indian Remedy was discovered. Every one says it cures all kinds of Scrofula, Skin Diseases, Humors of the Blood, &c. I have known several cases cured with it lately, and I have taken five bottles and O how it rejoices me to say I am well!—yes, I am well! The skin of my face, chest, &c., is as smooth as ever it was: My appetite is good, and I am hearty and strong—what I could not say in twenty years before. I am poor but I can give you my blessing, and you have it.

SARAH ANN BLEEZDALE,
Chicago.

I certify that the above statement agrees with the condition of this woman for the past eleven years, and that she has been cured as above stated.

CURE OF CHRONIC PLEURISY.

of Fifteen Years standing.

DR. JASPER.—Upwards of fifteen years ago I took a heavy cold, and it settled in my side. I was very bad, and the doctors said it was pleurisy. I was bled, cupped, blistered, &c., till I could not sit up in bed. Finally however, I got better but not well. I was ever after troubled with a pain in my side, which was the very plague of my existence—I never had a day's comfort. I think I can safely say that I consulted scores of physicians. Some gave me encouragement but it amounted to nothing, others of them told me that I could not be cured for the pleury or covering of the Lung, had grown fast to my side. I grasped eagerly for every patent medicine that was recommended for such pains but they done me no lasting good, and I still continued to get worse; but not long ago my brother was here from St. Louis, and seeing how I suffered, day and night, he told me there was a new Indian Remedy there, and that he had heard of two or three cases of old Pleurisy that were completely cured by it. When he went home he sent me by express half a dozen bottles of your Great Shoshonees Remedy and the Pills. I commenced them with the use of the Shoshonees Penetrating Restorative Oil, &c., as directed; but before I got the fourth bottle finished. I found to my own surprise, as well as that of all my neighbours, that I was completely cured—I had not a pain nor an ache left. Judge you whether I was thankful.

P. S.—Just now my wife tells me she has been informed that your Remedy has arrived here for sale. I know of seven or eight that will be delighted to hear it.

WONDERFUL CURE OF DROPSY.

MR. JASPER.—Sir, my wife has been a great sufferer for the last six years from Dropsy. She has been tapped five times, and has been attended by some of the most clever physicians. They pronounced her case hopeless. Latterly she became swollen from head to foot—the legs, arms, and face, as well as the abdomen, and she was the most pitiful looking human object you ever laid your eyes upon. A Mrs. Lath and other neighbours advised her to try the new Indian Remedy stating that it was working wonders. My wife asked me what I thought of it, (I had no faith in it whatever; but as she seemed to be inclined to use it,) I told her I thought she had better give it a trial. She has done so, also using the Pills, and the Shoshonees Poultices, &c., as recommended in your treatise. She has used six bottles of the Remedy, and O what a miracle—she is about cured. She looks like herself again, and she is hearty, cheerful and smart. She is still taking the Remedy.

CURE OF SALT RHEUM

of 39 years standing.

DR. JASPER.—Dear sir, I scarcely know how to express my gratitude for the benefit I have received from the great Shoshonees Remedy. It has indeed cured me of the Salt Rheum after its having stood for nearly forty years, and I cannot understand why you have not said more in your treatise about its effect in Salt Rheum than you have. I am sure it is as perfect a cure for this complaint as it can be for diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, and Digestive Organs, for which you especially recommend it When I was a young woman. it first came on my hands and wrists in the fall, and before spring it extended to my arms and feet. It kept getting worse, until it covered my head, neck and ears, and finally, in patches my whole body. As to treatment, I tried everything I could hear of. Some things seemed to help me for a while, but their effects were not permanent. Some time ago I witnessed a wonderful cure of Chronic Bronchitis, in connection with Liver Disease and Dyspepsia, with other derangements, in the case of Mrs. Forbes, and was advised to try it myself, but refused, because it was not recommended particularly for such diseases as mine; but finally I heard of its curing two cases of Salt Rheum. Then I commenced it, with the use of your Pills, and the Shoshonees Penetrating Restorative Oil, made by receipt in your treatise. Now, I may here state, that every one who sees this Indian treatise that accompanies each bottle of the Remedy, declares that it is worth ten times the price of a bottle to any family, and I can assure you that we would not take twice this and never see it again. However, before I had taken half of the first bottle I found I was getting better. The second bottle did not seem to help me so much; but the third acted like a charm, and I have been gradually getting better ever since; and all I have to say now is, I have taken 11 bottles, and I am as well as I ever was in my life.

CURE OF CHRONIC BRONCHITIS.

Dr. Jasper.—Sir, My wife has been afflicted for ten or twelve years with Bronchitis, which I have thought was Consumption; yet the doctors said not, but that it was just as bad. For the last year she has had no appetite; the bowels have been costive; she has had night sweats and sometimes fever. Her voice was reduced to a whisper. She coughed, and raised almost constantly, and other things set in beside. In fact, she was given up, and I thought a short time would terminate her sufferings. Hearing of the Great Shoshonees Remedy, though not dreaming of its curing her, I thought it might somewhat relieve her. I got a bottle—she used it regularly, observing other points as recommended, and it helped her; she said it was a searching Medicine, and that it reached her complaint. She kept on and continued to get better, until she has taken twelve bottles; and can you believe it?—I can hardly believe my own eyes—she is perfectly well in all particulars.

THE VOICE OF MANGCOSEE.

To all to whom this may come,—We the undersigned inhabitants of Mangcosee, Columbia, do, without the solicitation of the Indian Dr. Josephus, or of our esteemed friend Dr. Jasper, hereby declare and affirm that the Medical Compound, known here as the Great Shoshonees Remedy, the secret manufacture of which Dr. Jasper has lately been so wonderfully successful in obtaining from the Eminent Indian Dr. Josephus, of the Great Tribe of Shoshonees, is possessed of wonderfully healing properties; and we believe, from the abundant evidence we have had—from witnessing its effects in various diseases, along with reliable information received through our friends, that it is not by any means to be equalled by any other known medicine or medicinal compound in the world, for the cure of Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, or Digestive Organs; as well as for Scrofula, any of the various Skin Diseases, Syphilis Dropsy, Rheumatism, Fever Sores, Female Diseases, Gout, Piles, and all diseases arising from impurity of the blood.

CURE OF ERYSIPELAS.

Dr. Jasper.—My dear sir, Allow me to say that I have suffered greatly from a disease which the doctors called Erysipelas; and by the solicitations of my friends, I procured three bottles of your Great Shoshonees Remedy; and it has, in my case, wrought a perfect cure; and I would earnestly advise any one suffering from this wretched disease, if they wish to be permanently and hastily cured, to adopt the same treatment without delay.

JOHN T. HOPKINS, St. Louis.

CURE OF ULCERATED LEGS.

Dr. Jasper.—Sir, I have been troubled with Fever Sores on my legs for eleven years, and such legs for the last two years you never saw. They have looked just like a mass of blood and corruption, a good part of the time. I done everything and tried everything, that I could ever get or hear of, to heal them, but nothing had any effect upon them whatever, excepting Poultices of———which an old woman recommended. This, such as it was, certainly did seem to cool and clean them, but this was all. A while ago hearing a great whillabaloo about the Great Indian Remedy, I said what everybody says must be true, and by me—here's at ye! And now sir, I have used altogether seven bottles of your Indian Remedy, with your Pills, and that Healing Ointment you spoke of, which is a great thing surely, and what do you think? I have got as sound a pair of legs as ever a man in the State, and can dance a jig as well as ever I could.

CURE OF SCROFULOUS SORE EYES.

Mr. H. B. Jasper.—Sir, I am glad to be able to inform you, that your Great Shoshonees Remedy has cured my daughter, who is four years old, of a disease that the doctors called Scrofulous Sore Eyes. Her eyes were truly in a dreadful state. She had been nearly blind for a year, and for the last six months we were obliged to keep her in a dark room. I lost all hopes of her ever recovering; for all that we would seemingly do for her, was void of effect; but before she had finished the second bottle of your Remedy, the eyes were perfectly strong and well.

J. S. NOBLE, Northtown, Mo.

CURE OF RHEUMATISM.

Dr. Jasper.—Dear Sir, the result of my case is doubtless even beyond your expectation, I have been sadly for myself and family, an invalid for the past twenty-two years, from that excruciating disease, Rheumatism.—Twenty-two years ago I was very bad for a length of time with fever; and just as I was nicely recovering, I got a relapse from taking cold, and then had a severe attack of inflammatory Rheumatism, from which I barely escaped with my life. Ever after this I was harrassed with Chronic Rheumatism; and for the past six years I have been half my time on crutches. My joints have been swollen, tender and painful, a good part of the time, and there was constantly collections of white, cheesy-looking, matter about the joints. In fact, my whole body has been affected, and part of the time I have suffered beyond everything. No man knows what my pangs have been but myself. The most eminent physicians have been my attendants, but sadly without any good result. Nothing ever gave me any permanent relief until I commenced your Great Shoshonees Remedy. When I had taken the third bottle, I found that I was decidedly better than I had been for years. Now I have taken nearly fifteen bottles in all, and, to my joy and satisfaction, it is a rare thing indeed for me to feel the slightest symptom of the disease remaining. I can attend to my business as well as ever I could. I frequently think, could I have had this Remedy years ago, it would have been the means of saving a fortune spent in doctors bills.

GEO. S. LOVEJOY, Lewisville, Ill.

CURE OF HUMOR ON HEAD AND NECK.

Mr. Jasper.—My wife and two daughters had a bad Humor about the head and neck. For some years they were obliged to keep their hair cut very short, a good part of which fell out. Sores were continually breaking out on their heads, necks, and ears, and also on their fingers and toes; and I can assure you I did not leave a stone unturned in endeavoring to have them cured; but all to no purpose. Sometimes we thought, now we have the medicine, but as usual it failed. When I heard of your Remedy I must say I had faith in it. I procured two bottles, but when I brought it home they said it was no use —no medicine could have any effect on them. Finally I prevailed on them to try it, and when they had used this quantity, with the Pills, and the Healing Ointment, (which we made according to your directions,) being evidently better, they were very anxious for more. I got two other bottles which they took willingly, and the three of them have now taken twelve bottles, and it has had the effect of completely banishing the complaint.

BENJAMIN SNIDER, Sand Hill, Ill.

CURE OF NEURALGIA AND BOILS.

Dr. Jasper.—Sir, I have myself been a wonderful sufferer for eight years with Neuralgia, in the hip and thigh, called by the doctors Siatica. I have went on crutches for over a year. My daughter has also had a very bad neuralgia about the face for three or four years, and my brother has put in a most wretched existence for the past three years, from large crops of boils coming out on every part of the body. I have known him to have over twenty on him at once; and he was, I may say, never entirely free from them. And now I consider it my duty to tell you, that my daughter and I have each used five bottles of your Remedy, and my brother three bottles; and wonderful as it may appear, after taking such a variety of medicines as we have, without receiving any benefit from them, this Indian Remedy has completely cured us all. I have thrown away my crutches, and the neighbours are in a state of consternation. CHARLES WEAVER.

Old Dr. Marsh's Testimony.
CURE OF SYPHILIS.

Dr. Jasper.—Sir, I have always been opposed to having my name used in connection with patent medicines; but having, upon good authority, tried the Great Shoshonees Remedy in the treatment of Syphilis, and having proved it to be a specific above all other remedies of the age for that disease, I consider it a duty I owe to humanity, to state fearlessly that I have tested this Remedy in scores of cases, in all the various stages of that disease, and it invariably effects a speedy cure. I believe it is not to be equalled. I usually add three drachms of Iodide of Potassium, to each bottle of the Remedy, then order it to be taken according to your directions.

Geo. S. MARSH, M. D., Moborough Bay.

CURE OF AN INVALID.

Dr. Jasper.—My dear sir, I see that others have written to you; may I be allowed the same privilege? I have been wretched and miserable, in both mind and body, for the past seven years. I have felt languid, disheartened, and lazy, and have suffered reproach on every hand. Some doctors told me I had liver disease, some lung disease, and some kidney disease, while others of them told me to go to work—that was all the medicine I wanted. Now, the fact is, I was indeed an invalid; but they knew not the cause, nor what my affection was, and consequently their medicine done me no good. I rejoice in the discovery of this peculiar Indian compound, known as the Great Shoshonees Remedy. I have now taken three bottles of it, with the Pills, and am, I am bold to say, strong and hearty, and enjoy that feeling and life which I longed after for years.

THOMAS N. YARKER, Suttonville, Ill.

A DRUGGIST WRITES THUS:-

Dr. Jasper.—Sir, it affords me much pleasure to inform you, that your medicine has gained a wonderful reputation here. We sell more than thrice the quantity of it that we ever sold of any other medicine. It has as great a name for Skin Diseases, Humors, Scrofula, Female Diseases, Rheumatism, Fever Sores, &c. &c., as it has for diseases of the Internal organs, for which you more especially recommend it. In fact, when taken for any disease, and persevered in for a short time, it seems invariably to regulate and invigorate the Digestive Organs the Bowels, and all the Internal Organs, and indeed the whole system; and, strange as it may seem, once this is accomplished, the disease, let it be what it may, soon disappears. We have only ten bottles left of the eight dozen you sent us; we have sold twenty-six within the past four days. We ordered ten dozen about a week ago—they have not yet arrived.—Will you be good enough to hasten them along.

D. T. MURATT & Co., Nashton, Mo.

CURE OF GOUT AND COSTIVENESS.

Dr. Jasper.—Sir, allow me to say, I have been a martyr to Gout for the past fifteen years, and I believe the disease originated from costiveness with which I was greatly troubled for years before it commenced, and which has accompanied it ever since. No one could conceive what I have suffered in some of the paroxysms of this disease. I have consulted many of the most eminent physicians in this country and have used every variety of medicines that were well recommended for such affections, until finally, feeling discouraged, on account of receiving no benefit from any of them, I vowed I would take no more medicine of this country's manufacture. Finally I was very strongly advised by numerous friends, to try the Great Shoshonees Remedy which I positively refused to do. When my wife found I was determined not to use it, she procured some of your medicine, put it in a black bottle, and gave me to understand it was from Dr. Simes of London. This I took willingly, and said, on taking the first dose, Ah, that tastes like medicine. She also used your Pills and Shoshonees Penetrating Restorative Oil, under the same cloak. She continued administering the Remedy until I had taken seven bottles, which has really made me perfectly sound. It is a month now since I quit taking the medicine and I have been troubled with no Gout nor Costiveness since. It was only yesterday she informed me that it was the Great Shoshonees Remedy that cured me. Upon hearing which, I was indeed greatly surprised, and resolved that you should have this information.

GEO. LINGHAM, Shirlow Valley, Mo.

REMARKS.

☞ It will be remembered that the Great Shoshonees Remedy is not injured in the least by any climate; but it will be also well to remember, that cold changes, for the time being, its beautiful Sarawawene and Cherrocine color, and throws down to the bottom of the bottle some of the ingredients of the Remedy, which might be mistaken for a sediment; but you will find, by exposing the bottle to heat until every part of it is quite warm, that the original beautiful color of the Remedy returns, and those ingredients which were thrown down by cold, unlike a sediment, disappear, by being taken up and held in solution, and when shaken, after being warmed, they do not give the remedy an opaque and muddy appearance, such as is given by a sediment. It will therefore be remembered that it is well, while taking the remedy, to keep it in a warm room; or if taken while very cold, it is necessary to shake it well before using.

Be it pointedly and distinctly understood, that where the Great Shoshonees Remedy is emphatically and forcibly stated, and declared, to have such a remarkable superiority over all other Remedies, or Medicines, of this the 19th century for the permanent cure of those diseases for which it is recommended; it is with the positive and decided understanding that the Shoshonees Vegetable Restorative Pills, (and no other Pill,) be used in connection with it, unless there are two free motions of the bowels, in the 24 hours without them. These Pills are manufactured with the strictest and most rigid scrutiny, care and exactness, from such of the very choicest, and most refined Vegetable Regulating Laxatives, &c., as are perfectly compatible with every ingredient entering into the composition of the Great Shoshonees Remedy, and as they are the only Laxative compounded thus with the view of meeting in harmony, the exigencies of that Remedy, we in broad and emphatic language, most positively declare and affirm, that if any person or persons will incur failures of cures by this Remedy, in consequence of using other pills in connection with it, on their heads be the censure, for we are clear of it.

READ THIS.

Be it distinctly remembered that whereas the Great Shoshonees Remedy is warranted to cure the first and second Stages of Consumption, it is not warranted, nor at all recommended, to cure the third or last stage of that disease.–Use the Remedy in the first and second stages of Consumption and it will cure the disease, but in the third or last stage, though it often relieves the patient, it will not, it will not, again it will not effect a cure.–We trust this will suffice, and that the Remedy will be censured no more for not curing the third or last stage of Consumption.
